

New Zealand's Marine Life — Knowledge Organiser

Free from LessonKind · lessonkind.com · Qualified primary teacher

Key facts

- The seas around New Zealand are full of life.
- Dolphins, whales and seals all live in its waters.
- The little blue penguin, the world's smallest, nests on its coasts.
- Healthy oceans matter for wildlife and people.

Key vocabulary

- Marine — to do with the sea.
- Mammal — a warm-blooded animal that feeds young milk.
- Species — a kind of living thing.
- Conservation — protecting nature.

A sea full of life

Cool, rich seas make New Zealand a great home for dolphins, whales, seals and seabirds.

The smallest penguin

The little blue penguin, found in New Zealand, is the smallest penguin in the world.